COLLEGE

IS:

... registering for a new and different world—or re-registering for a world that is not so new anymore.

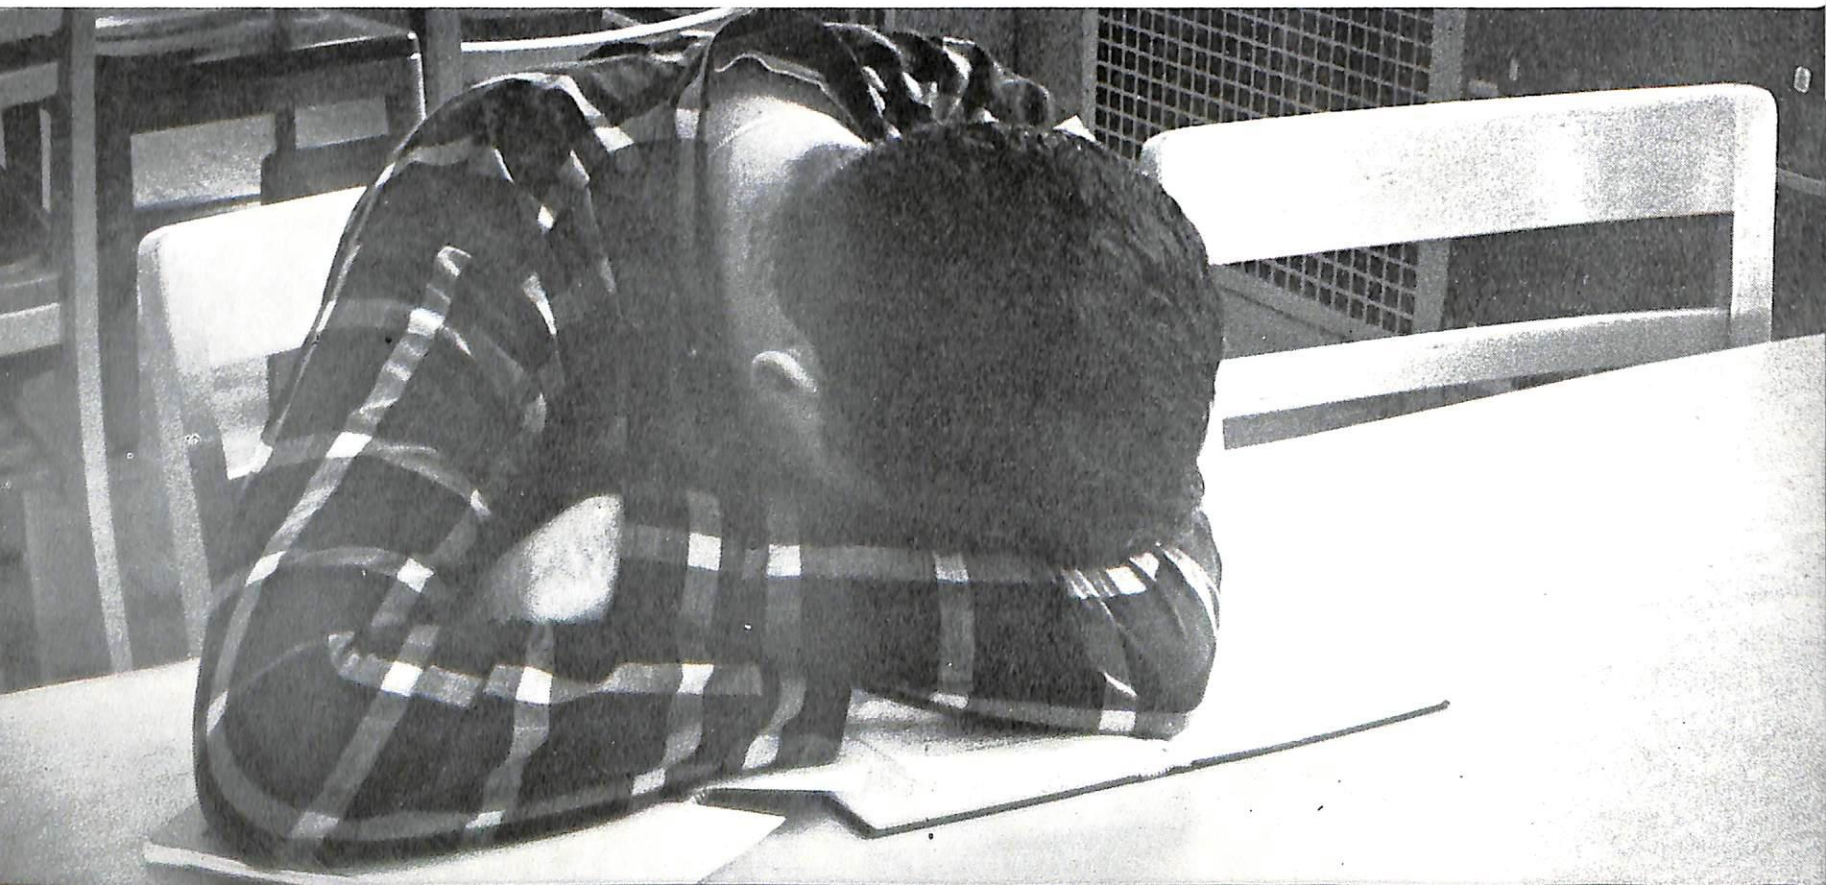

It can be the best of times, it can be the worst of times. It can be a time of joy, or a time of sorrow. It can be exalting or a source of deepest frustration.

College, like the apostle, can be all things to all men. It is a different world, not like any we have experienced before, and yet, at the same time it is not unlike our other worlds.

... the daily trek to class.

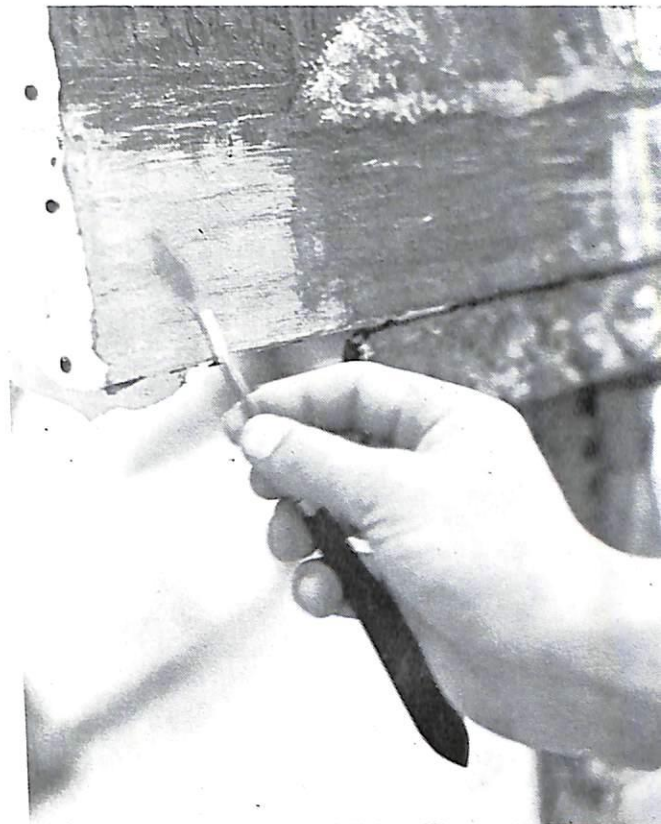

... a quick nap in the midst of studying in the library.

... competing, not only academically but physically.

... creating.

... supporting a cause.

We come to college with an idea of what it will be like and yet we don't really know. At first most of us are somewhat bewildered and just a little bit at a loss (whether we admit it to ourselves or not.)

It's a new routine, a new orientation. We soon learn that we must be responsible for ourselves. We are in control of our own lives, some of us for the first time completely on our own. It's a little bit dizzying at first, all this freedom.

Yet soon we begin to become accustomed to the routine. We learn who the good profs are, who we can cut and who we can't. And we settle down to learn and grow and ask questions and find out who we are.

... being concerned for others and helping supply their needs.

Yet there is more to college than simply our own growth and development. We are in college with other people, we experience relationships with them, we come to know them and become involved with them. A dimension is added to us, knowledge and concern for others.

For a college does not exist unto itself, nor do the people at a college exist only for themselves. A college is a community, located within a community and in college we learn to carry out our responsibilities to both communities, especially the larger one outside the college, where we will spend our lives.

... helping and contributing to the community in which we are living.

... the campus on a quiet autumn night.

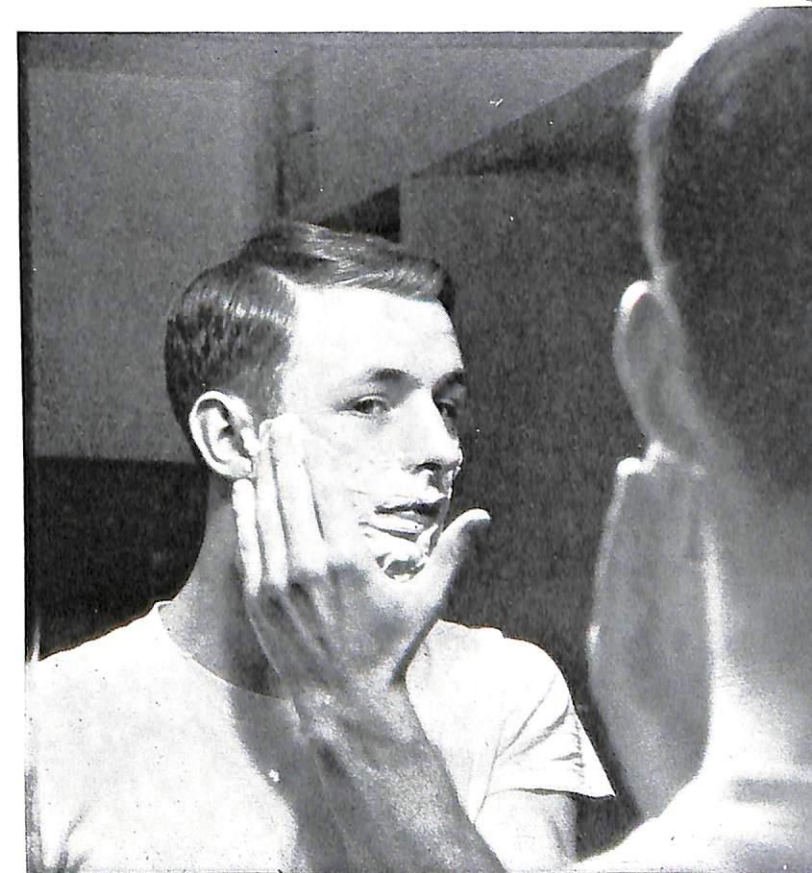

... a walk with that special girl you wouldn't have met if you hadn't come to college.

... awakening to broader views and new horizons.

... and finally college is looking at yourself in the mirror every morning and one day realizing that if the face hasn't changed much, the man behind it has.

And so as our life in college progresses our horizons expand, our thoughts broaden and we open ourselves to the world before us. We begin to realize how vast are the vistas before us, how little one man can grasp and how dependent the individual is on the contributions of others and with this knowledge is the beginning of wisdom and the reaching toward the fullness of humanity.

REGISTRATION

The enjoyment of summer activity seemed to end somewhat abruptly as that small brown envelope arrived from the Registrar early in September—a reminder that academic pursuits were to resume full blast in the few short days to come.

The library was filled to capacity (for the first and last time during the '66-'67 season) as registration progressed for three days, from September 19 to the 21st. During the three days, students filed into the library, freshmen looking completely baffled, sophomores, self-sure, juniors, bored, and seniors, happy that this was to be the last "September initiation." Mr. Gerard Noonan, registrar, called names alphabetically and after completing the process of securing class cards and signatures, filling out forms, and paying bills, the happy realization that the "party" was over shown on the faces of one and all.

OPENING MASS

Friday, September 23, marked the official opening of the school year, with a concelebrated low Mass in the Loras Fieldhouse. The principal concelebrant was the Most Rev. James J. Byrne, Archbishop of Dubuque, and other concelebrants included Rt. Rev. Msgrs. Francis P. Friedl, George N. Schulte, Timothy Gannon, and the Revs. Alfred Ede, Theodore Scharle, Hilary Burke, O.P., Stanley Hayek, and Charles Lang. The sermon was delivered by Most Rev. Loras J. Watters, Auxiliary Bishop of Dubuque and during it, Bishop Watters stressed the need for informed lay people of the future, not only in dealing with Church affairs but for successful handling of matters of world import as well. He emphasized the place of a Catholic college in forming informed laymen, deeply interested in the future of their Church and in the world community in general.

PARENT'S DAY

One of the highlights of the school year is Parents Day, which provides an opportunity for parents, students, brothers, and sisters, to get together for a day of relaxation. Parent's Day 1967, October 16, began with a high Mass celebrated by Msgr. Schulte, and accompanied by the Loras Choir. Msgr. Schulte spoke of the increasing responsibilities of parents in the nuclear age.

Following Mass came registration of parents, and the Loras Parents Club held its annual election meeting. The morning concluded with campus visiting by parents and a buffet luncheon in the dining hall. The afternoon included an informal faculty reception, a show in Heitkamp Memorial Planetarium, and the annual excursion on the river.

PEARL HARBOR MASS

December 7 witnessed the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and this event was commemorated by a Mass offered at noon for Fr. Aloysius Schmitt, priest from the Archdiocese and the first American Catholic Chaplain to be killed in World War II.

The Mass, celebrated in Christ the King Chapel, a memorial to Fr. Schmitt, was presided over by Archbishop Byrne, and the sermon was delivered by the Most Rev. James Casey, Bishop of Lincoln, Nebraska. Msgr. Maurice Sheehy acted as principal celebrant, and chaplains from each branch of the service acted as concelebrants.

Fr. (Rear Admiral) Henry J. Rotrige addresses the faculty at a luncheon, following the Mass.

Father Hoff celebrates Mass for retreatants in St. Joseph's Chapel.

RETREAT

The format of the annual retreat varied some this year as opportunity was provided for students to attend "team discussion retreats" December 3-5 and again February 3-5. These were both conducted under the direction of Fathers James Egan, S.J., Gregory Lucey, S.J., and James Hoff, S.J. Students who did not make one of these retreats met from February 8-10 in Christ the King Chapel and St. Joseph Chapel. The upper campus retreat was given by Father Lucey and the lower campus retreat, by Father Hoff. The retreat theme, stated during the first conference, was that of retreat as a time to enable the student to face up to the realities of his life—to abandon the escape into the shelter of noise and to listen to the silence of Christ, the reality of life.

The retreat for the married students was given February 10-12, by Father Thomas Halley, S.J., while Rohlman Hall students were under the direction of the Rev. Albert Manternach, of Mt. St. Bernard Seminary.

Fr. Lucey emphasizes a point during a conference for upper campus students.

Arthur Fiedler conducting the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

ARTHUR FIEDLER

Arthur Fiedler headed the Loras College activities program as he appeared in a pops concert with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, on October 5.

The program began with a selection from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and proceeded to highlight bits of Dvorak and Debussy, bringing the first part of the program to a close with a piano solo by Miss Olegna Fuschi—Liszt's Piano Concerto #2, in A Major.

The second half began with the lighthearted and amusing selection "Buckaroo Holiday" (from Copland's Rodeo). The group next turned to selections from "Fiddler on the Roof," and executed a magical transformation of Johann Strauss. The second half formally closed with a selection from Bizet. The orchestra played five encores, however, ranging from "Mame," through "Mack the Knife," to the Batman theme.

KAMPUS KARNIVAL

Organization and innovation combined to make the 1966 Kampus Karnival the best yet.

Procedure differed somewhat this year as campus organizations were assigned booths on the basis of past financial expenditures and club size, and not in the traditional "first come, first serve basis." Another break from tradition (welcome to be sure) was the mixer held later in the evening and serving to round off the entire day.

Among the individual booths, the Sociology Club made a bundle from "jail bail." The Pie Throw and the Dunking game attracted the usual crowd of sadists and the record break, all the local music haters but the rest of the events seemed to hold general appeal. "Pink Petunia," the Spanish Club stuffed poodle captured the heart of every girl and the wallet of more than one guy—well, pink does that to girls!!!

JAMES FARMER

Under the aegis of the Intellectual Affairs Committee of the Student Senate, James Farmer, former head of CORE addressed a capacity crowd in St. Joseph Auditorium on December 9. During his dynamic and convincing speech, Mr. Farmer compared the Negro civil rights movement with other social movements of the past—the quest for female suffrage; for labor rights. He emphasized the fact that while previously Negroes felt that segregation was necessary, now they were willing to be jailed, beaten or killed in their unending fight for integration. This change in attitude, said Mr. Farmer, was due to three primary causes: World War II; the sense of identity with the emerging African nations, making the Negro conscious of his African descent; and education, helping to make the Negro more aware of his rights and more concerned with realizing them. These three causes are forming aggressive, militant Negroes, who may be forced to turn from generally nonviolent action to desperate measures, a possibility which cannot be ignored but must be realistically avoided.

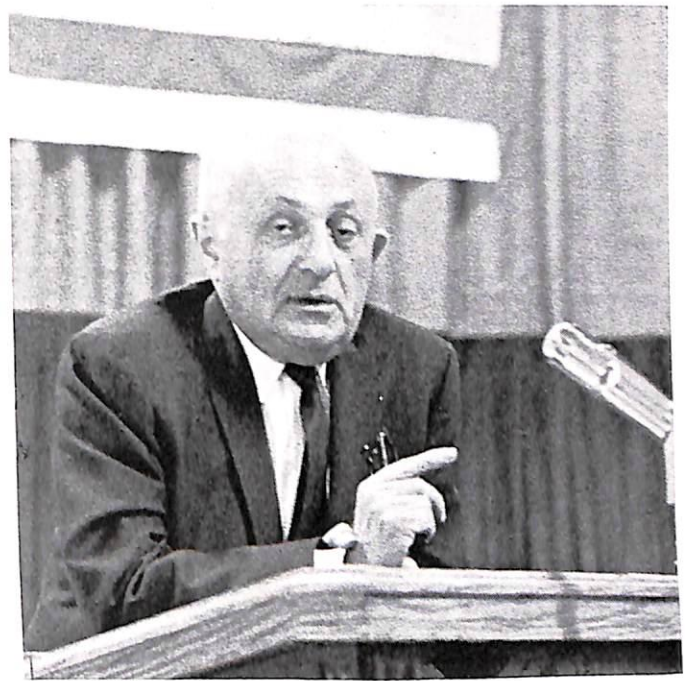

Mrs. Zena Harman, wife of Israel's Ambassador to the United States, delivered the address to the assembled student body, bringing Israel Day to a fitting close.

ISRAEL DAY

Folk Dances, Philosophy, Customs, Ceremonies, and Geography, provided the general framework for the second annual culture day March 8. The College was proud to welcome such distinguished guests as Mr. Joseph Ben-Dak, who spoke on aspects of change in the Kibbutz (a communal institution), Rabbis William Frankel, David Graubart and Victor Weissburg, who discussed Jewish customs and rites, philosophy, and the status of religion in Israel today. The highpoint of the proceedings was the address by Mrs. Zena Harman, wife of Israel's ambassador to the United States. Mrs. Harman graduated from the London School of Economics and Political Science where she obtained her degree. In her talk on the human aspect of Israel, she summarized the day's happenings by discussing a few of the pressing problems facing Israel.

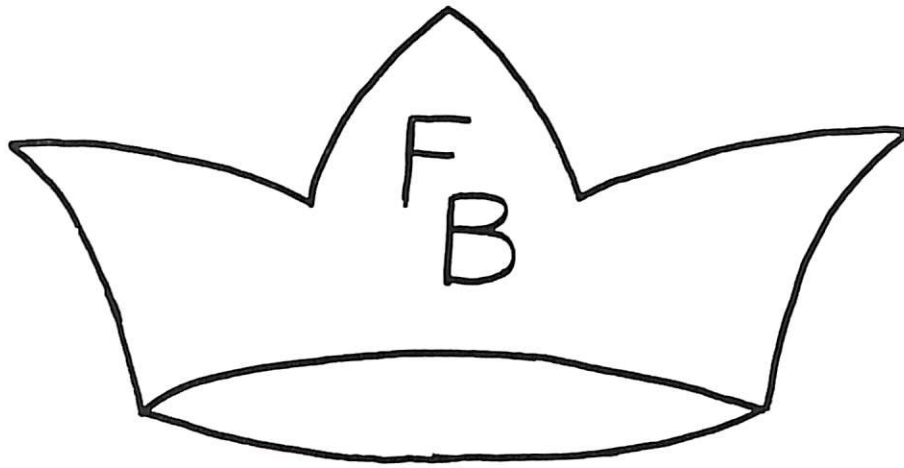

Rabbi David Graubart of Chicago discussed the state of religion in Israel today.

Israel Folk Dances by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kaye.

FALL BALL

"An Autumn Evening" provided the theme for the Fall Ball, held September 29 in the Loras Fieldhouse and sponsored by the Student Senate. More than three hundred couples danced to the music of Johnny Kaye and his orchestra from 8:30 to midnight as they took advantage of this special "autumn evening." Crowned as Queen of the Ball was Miss Jackie Smid, escorted by sophomore George Schmitz. Decorations, provided by committeemen Mike Reidy, Dan Mass, Ric Jais, and Bob Jeffries, simulated a quaint town park, complete with the leafless trees of any typical autumn as well as an old-fashioned swing.

MICHAELANGELO DI FIRENZE

It is not by chance that the Orchestra Michaelangelo di Firenze adopted the name of one of the outstanding Florentines of all time, because the group, resembles the master Michaelangelo, a figure uncompromising in his artistic ideals.

The program, held on November 4, in the field-house, was executed by the parent string quartet of the orchestra, consisting of two violins, viola, and violoncello. They achieved a superb musical blend indicative of a unity requiring the utmost in professional skills. The possession of these requisite skills was evidenced by the fact that the group performed without a conductor. The tone of their vibrant chamber music ranging in type from Frescobaldi, to Bach, to Boccherini, carried at peak throughout. The enthusiastic audience reaction during the entire performance demonstrated this.

This was indeed a concert designed to please those familiar with chamber music and to attract those not familiar with it. In both of these aims, the Florentines succeeded admirably.

SNEAK PREVIEW

The thirteenth annual APO Sneak Prevue was presented in the Loras Fieldhouse on Saturday, November 19, at 8:00 P.M. "Side by Side," as the show was called, featured talent new to the APO audience, the talent coming from Loras, Clarke, and Mercy.

The program of song and dance was directed by Robert Chuilli and co-produced by John Brinckerhoff and Paul Pechosh. Jim Davis and Steve Schwartzhoff combined their talents to serve as masters of ceremonies.

The program opened with the entire cast singing the theme of the show. Part I of the program featured Lorasmen Ed Kitrell, "The Grass and the Mowers," Steve Stedman, and the "Keen Edj"; Katie Basham and the "Sleep Stoppers" from Clarke. The evening continued with "The Five of Us" from Mercy. Performances by Bob McDowell and Kathy Lietelt, "Luke and Zeke Gorthm" Kathy Smith, "The Scarlet Letters," Marilyn Keehan, and Rog Rechenmacher and Rick Faltynski concluded the program.

Musical accompaniment was provided by Rick and Rog, Jack Schlicksup, George Binder, Ed Kitrell, Chip Barder, and by Rita Brennan from Clarke.

FIESTA MEXICANA

Mexico, land of complexity and variety expressed itself to us in the form of Javier de Leon's Fiesta Mexicana, a beautiful panorama of Mexico, achieving an amazing blend of the old and the new. The program, presented October 27, began with a ritual-like performance of dances representative of the ancient Mayan and Aztec cultures of Mexico, perhaps the most well-known of these being the "Deer Dance," representing the story of the killing of this creature of nature by the weapons of man. The program continued with songs and dances of Vera Cruz and this began the presentation of the new, portraying Mexico today, with all the laughter, gaiety and rhythms that characterize that sunny land to the south. Among the highlights of the program were the "Serenata Mexicana," and the "Floreo Mexicano," during which exceptionally beautiful costumes accentuated the strange rhythms and sounds of ancient and modern instruments. The "Grand Finale" presented a panorama of traditional and modern costumes and truly capped the evening as a fiery and thrilling experience.

CHRISTMAS BAND CONCERT

The Department of Music presented the Loras Band in Christmas Concert on Sunday, December 18, in the Fieldhouse. The concert marked, not only the first public appearance of the band this year, but also the debut of Mr. Jack L. Watson, conductor of the group.

The program opened with Richard Wagner's "Professional March," the Prelude from the opera "Der Meistersinger." Follow up selections included a performance of Bach's "Sleepers Wake," William Latham's "Brighten Beach," and the "Polyphonic Suite" by Charles Carter. The first part of the concert concluded with samples of Schuman, Glenn Osser, and John Phillip Sousa.

An interlude of jazz followed as the spotlight focused on the Loras Jazz Quintet, composed of five band members: Charles Chihak, piano; Peter Kelley, bass; David Bauer, drums; William Heenan, baritone saxophone; Thomas Reso, flute. The group performed bits of "Porgy and Bess" plus originals by Chihak.

The brass section took over next as James Lins, James Psotka, and Steve Weigel performed such favorites as "Lo How a Rose," and "Adeste Fideles."

The concert ended as the entire band performed John Cacavas' "Christmas Music for Winds" appropriately bringing the program to a close and putting the audience in the Christmas Spirit.

PHILHARMONIA HUNGARICA

The Loras community was privileged to have the Philharmonia Hungarica Symphony on campus Monday, January 23, as the concert and lecture series moved into the new year. The program began at 8:00 P.M. with Bela Bartok's "Music for Strings, Percussion and Celesta." The wealth and variety of its tonal material made the work quite impressive. Its sonority leans upon Hungarian folk rhythms and intonations which give the work its unity of style. Following Bartok, the Symphony performed Liszt's "Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major for Piano and Orchestra." In this selection, Liszt's characteristic device of making one theme serve several purposes by presenting it under different guises, was very much in evidence. After the intermission, the Philharmonia Hungarica concluded the program with "Symphony No. 4 in E Minor, Opus 98," by Brahms. This was the last symphonic work by Brahms and is described by some as his most compact symphony.

Under the leadership of conductor Miltiades Carides, the concert at Loras was part of the group's third North American tour.

At the Sweetheart Ball all the ladies present were declared "Queen of the Ball." Here Marie McGown, escorted by Lorasman, Charlie Driscoll, receives her long stemmed carnation, symbol of her Queenship.

SWEETHEART BALL

The pageantry and festive atmosphere of French America became part of Loras for a few hours on February 3, as Delta Sigma Fraternity presented its annual Sweetheart Ball.

The motif of the event was "Evening in New Orleans," as the Marinote Orchestra played selections of Dixieland jazz, in addition to a variety of popular melodies. The Mardi Gras mood was accented with disguises, costumed waiters, and the gala decorations which are always a noteworthy feature of the annual event.

The Queen? Candidates included all dates and each was given a long-stemmed carnation as a sign of her queenship.

FEIS EIREANN

For the wearers of the green and those who would like to be, February 27 was the night of nights. The Irish singers and dancers hit the stage with a vibrance attributable only to Irish spunk. The program included a variety of activities—solo vocalists, solo musicians (a harpist and an accordionist), as well as group dancers in native costume. Perhaps the least recognized but most valuable member of the ensemble was the pianist, who played at fever pitch during most of the program. The repertoire included such tra-ditionals as "The Rose of Tralee," "Johnny, I Hardly Knew You," and "Dear Old Donegal," but added such unique pieces as "Whack fol the Diddle," and "He Ho Mo Capallin," (in Gaelic). The only surprise in the program was "The Spanish Lady," but in this age of ecumenism, anything is possible. The program ended with a group of tunes representing the Golden Years of Percy French and by the end of the evening, the audience was completely exhilarated. Saint Patrick's Day came early this year!

Miss Caulfield "reads" the words of her John F. Kennedy award medal.

GENEVIEVE CAULFIELD

Miss Genevieve Caulfield, "America's Ambassador of Good Will," received the third annual John Fitzgerald Kennedy Award from Loras College, during ceremonies held in St. Joseph Auditorium, on Wednesday, November 2, at 7:30 P.M. The gold medal and citation, established the day following the assassination of the late President and meant to honor "an outstanding American," were conferred on Miss Caulfield by the Most Rev. James J. Byrne, Archbishop of Dubuque, and Chancellor of Loras College.

Following the presentation, Miss Caulfield, blind since infancy, spoke about her experiences in Thailand, Vietnam, and Japan, where she was engaged for forty-three years in establishing schools for and educating the blind. During her talk, she also stressed the need for increased understanding of Asia and its problems and its importance to the United States. She defended our current military action in Vietnam, as a demonstration to the free nations of Asia of our willingness to assist them.

RICHARD C. HOTTELET

Richard C. Hottelet, famed CBS newsman who has established himself in the upper echelon of news correspondents and political observers, lectured in St. Joseph Auditorium on Wednesday, March 1, at 7:30 p.m. His remarks were centered around the topic "Behind the International Headlines." During his talk, Mr. Hottelet presented an optimistic picture of American operations in Vietnam, indicating the success of American and Vietnamese military offensives and the feeling of confidence possessed by the South Vietnamese, a confidence which will help to win the war. However, Mr. Hottelet did not feel that victory was just around the corner, but that Chinese intervention might prolong the conflict for some time to come.

Mr. Hottelet has been CBS News correspondent to the United Nations since 1960. Since then, he has been on the scene for the various U.N. crises and in 1966, he was assigned to Vietnam for the summer months. The fact that he lived with the Vietnamese, visited with political and military leaders, and spent considerable time with combat troops, gave his lecture the convincing air of experience.

SIMON and GARFUNKEL

Dynamic expression characterized the performance of Paul Simon and Art Garfunkel. Their down-to-earth musical accomplishments were witnessed by a packed house on February 12. Simon's compositions were vivid expressions of reality and the unique harmony of the duet amplified each melody played by guitarist Simon. The repertoire included such well-known pieces as "Blessed Are the Meek," "The Dangling Conversation," and their first success, "Sounds of Silence." Simon and Garfunkel are somewhat unique among the myriad of so-called "folk singers" because their lyrics are rich in meaning and accusation—challenging men to emerge from hard closed shells and to be—human.

Along with their criticisms of passive existence, the two also presented the lighthearted "59th Street Bridge Song," better known as "Feel-in' Groovy." In a more serious vein, they sang "Poem on the Underground Wall," a "salute" to individuals whose vocabulary and mental capacity are limited to four-letter words.

Simon and Garfunkel performed representative samples of their art in a meaningful and expressive way, a tribute to their musicianship and artistry.

ENCORE

"Encore '67," presented April 7 and 8, in the Loras Fieldhouse, was an attempt at the fresh and different as it set out to comment on the need for heroism—for people willing to extend themselves and to exhibit some measure of creative ambition.

The fieldhouse became an effective theatre as contemporary background music and pictures of Kennedy, Hitler, and the Beatles set the tone. Students from Loras and Clarke presented four cuts from contemporary plays—works exhibiting contrasting hero images. These were under the direction of Paul de Vere and included: "Skin of Our Teeth," "Death of a Salesman," "Walter Mitty," and "Zorba the Greek." Although these cuts at times obscured the theme, the talent available for the production was challenged and met the challenge amazingly well, making "Encore '67" well worth the effort expended upon it.

ROBERT SHAW CHORALE

France, Germany, America, and Argentina provided the background as the Robert Shaw Chorale, appearing in the Fieldhouse on April 24, performed selections written by contemporary composers from these countries.

The program began with the Mass in G Major, by the American composer, Francis Poulenc. The Mass, combining dissonance and rapid resolution, enabled the group to achieve an amazing choral blend. France was represented by "Trois Chansons" of Claude Debussy, portraying the intensity of love, the attraction of the jingle of the tambourine, and the harshness of winter. Alberto Ginastera, one of the best known contemporary Argentinian composers, expressed himself through the "Lamentations of Jeremiah," a three movement work which drew its inspiration from Renaissance choral music. Germany's contribution, "Fiede auf Erden," was a masterpiece of musical variety. The climax of the program occurred with Charles Ives' "Psalm 90," during which the chorus, accompanied by organ and chimes, ran the tonal gamut from musical complexity to utter simplicity of expression, captivating the audience as a result.

The major result of the evening was that the Chorals succeeded in opening to the audience a new dimension of contemporary choral music.

PAUL WINTER

Jazz enthusiasts who flocked into the field-house on April 3, were greeted not with traditional Dixieland blues, but with a unique phenomenon that might aptly be termed "folk chamber music." The Paul Winter Ensemble, composed of an alto flute, bass, alto saxophone, guitar, and percussion, performed Latin American selections modified for a sophisticated American audience, and some of the numbers blended Brazilian, African, and Israeli rhythms. The selections became even more unusual, since some of the native instruments were employed in their execution. Bossa nova predominated and the most interesting result appeared in selections from "Porgy and Bess," transformed into something totally unexpected but totally enjoyable. The program was well planned but improvisation was not entirely eliminated and the enthusiasm of the group spread to the audience, as the Ensemble was held for several encores.

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

"Much Ado About Nothing" was performed on December 11, 12, and 13, by the Loras Players, under the direction of the Rev. Karl Schroeder. The plot may be summarized as a comedy of courtship and marriage and it really involves two such courtships, a quick one that almost ends in disaster, and a slower one which is fully successful. The somewhat reluctant wooers are Beatrice, niece of Leonato, Governor of Messina, Sicily, and Benedick, a gentleman of Padua. These two are on the stage most of the time and they brighten the action of the entire play with their "merry war" of clever, even scornful repartee. The other courtship is that of Claudio, a young nobleman of Florence and Hero, the daughter of Leonato, which, after sufficient confusion and intrigue, results in marriage.

Some comic relief is provided by the two constables, Dogberry, possessed of a deep respect for English law and a special "numbskullery," and Verges, an old man who lets Dogberry do most of the work. Villany comes in the person of Don John, bastard brother of Don Pedro, Prince of Aragon. Don John seeks abortively to destroy the relationship between Claudio and Hero.

As usual, Shakespeare came to life as the Players, notably Bill Sheehy, executed their roles to the delight of all.

Leonato (Edson Swift) listens warily to hints by Don Pedro (John Putzke) that Hero's actions have been less than irreproachable—a lie concocted by he and Don John (his illegitimate brothers) in an effort to destroy the romance of Claudio and Hero.

In a further effort to discredit Hero, Don Pedro hires a minstrel to sing outside her window.

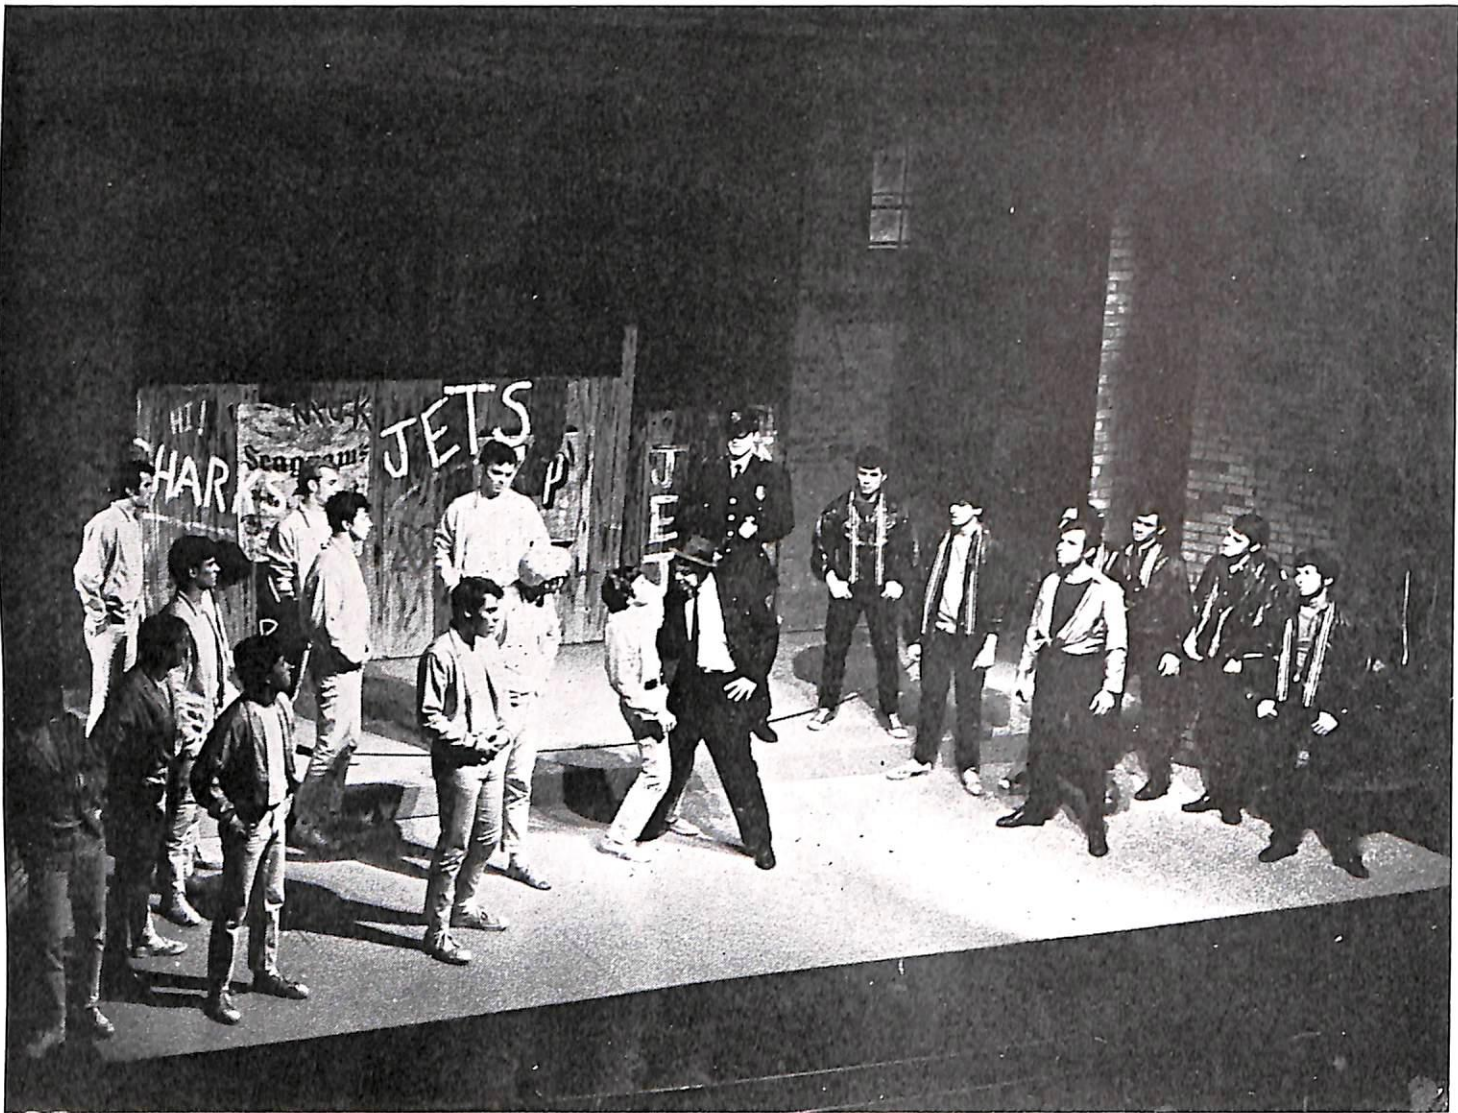

Beatrice confesses her love for Benedick to a helmeted gentleman, not knowing it is Benedick.

Beatrice stalks proudly away after another exchange with Benedick.

Detective Schrank (William Sheehy) attempts to "get tough" with the Jets after a rumble between the Jets and the Sharks.

WEST-SIDE STORY

Romeo and Juliet—twentieth century style, was the underlying motif of the 1967 musical—West Side Story, presented April 16-23, under the direction of the Rev. Karl Schroeder. The play, based on the novel by Arthur Laurents, portrays the enmity between two teenager gangs—the Jets and the Sharks, composed of immigrant Puerto Ricans. The gangs are vying for control of the neighborhood area they call the "turf." During the course of action Tony, a former member, and still friend of the leader of the Jets and Maria, sister of the Shark leader, fall in love. On their wedding night, a gang rumble takes place during which Riff, the leader of the Jets is killed by Bernardo. In an emotional outburst, Tony kills Bernardo, then is later shot and killed in revenge by a member of the Sharks.

The costuming and set designs were authentic and the technical aspects of scenery change occurred rapidly and effectively, utilizing backdrops, side flaps, and two smaller moving platforms. As usual, the Eugene Loring Dancers gave an outstanding performance and the supporting actors helped to tie the show together and unify the action.

Maria tries to explain to Anita (Nancy Louise) her love for Tony. Anita tries to dissuade her, telling her to stick to her own kind.

Later, after Anita has gone home from the dress shop, Tony and Maria pledge eternal love in a mock wedding ceremony.

Riff (Gerald Lyons) fends off Bernardo (Don Bradburn) in the knife fight which eventually ends in both their deaths, Riff killed by Bernardo, Bernardo killed by Tony.

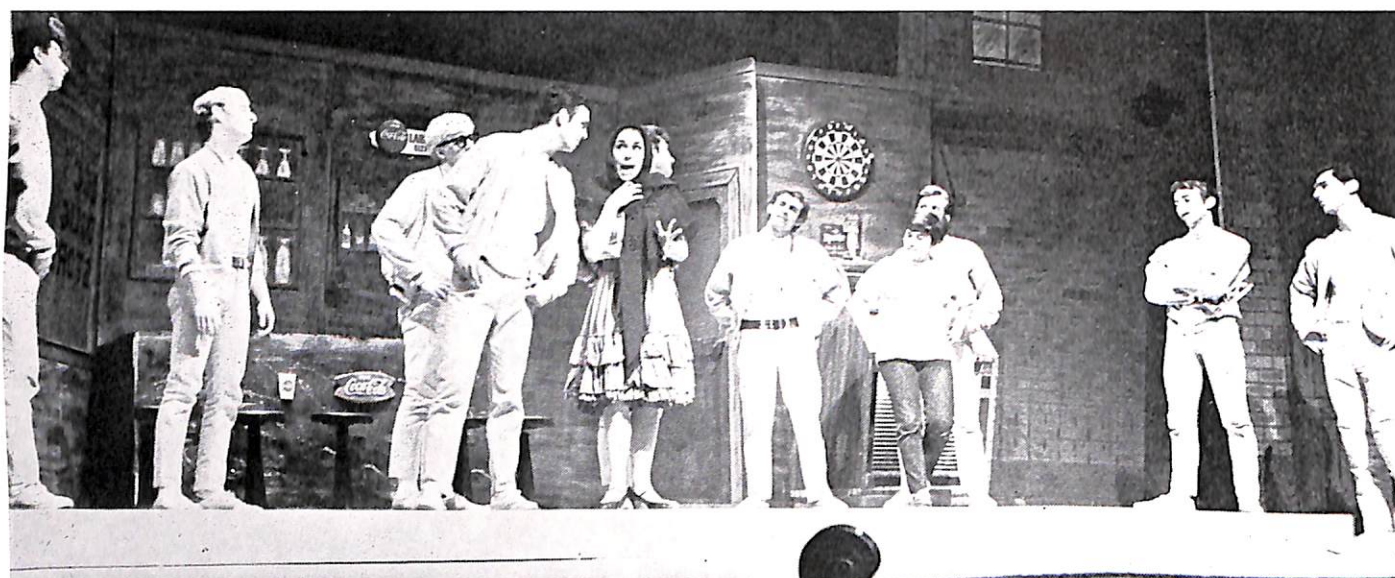

Tony goes to Maria after killing Bernardo and tries to explain the chain of events. At first she rejects him, but later forgives him and promises to go away with him.

After Tony leaves, Anita tells Maria that Chino is looking for him with a gun. Detective Scrank arrives hunting Tony. Maria persuades Anita to go to Doc's Drugstore and warn him about Chino.

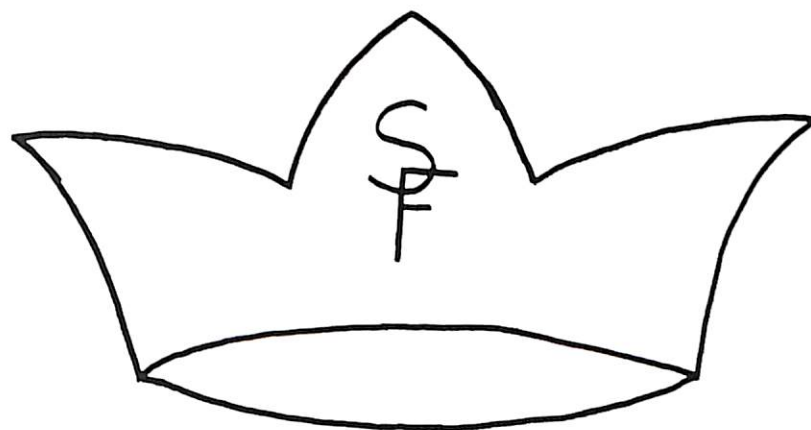

When Anita arrives at Doc's the Jets are there and after they attempt to assault her she curses them and tells them to tell Tony that Maria is dead. Tony then goes out yelling for Chino to kill him too.

Maria, having taken the gun from Chino with which he killed Tony, threatens him and the members of both gangs, saying they share in the guilt of Tony's death.

SPRING FORMAL

The grandeur of nineteenth century Southern United States provided the background for the Spring Formal, held April 29, in the Loras Fieldhouse. The attire of those attending lent to the atmosphere of Southern formality and the theme

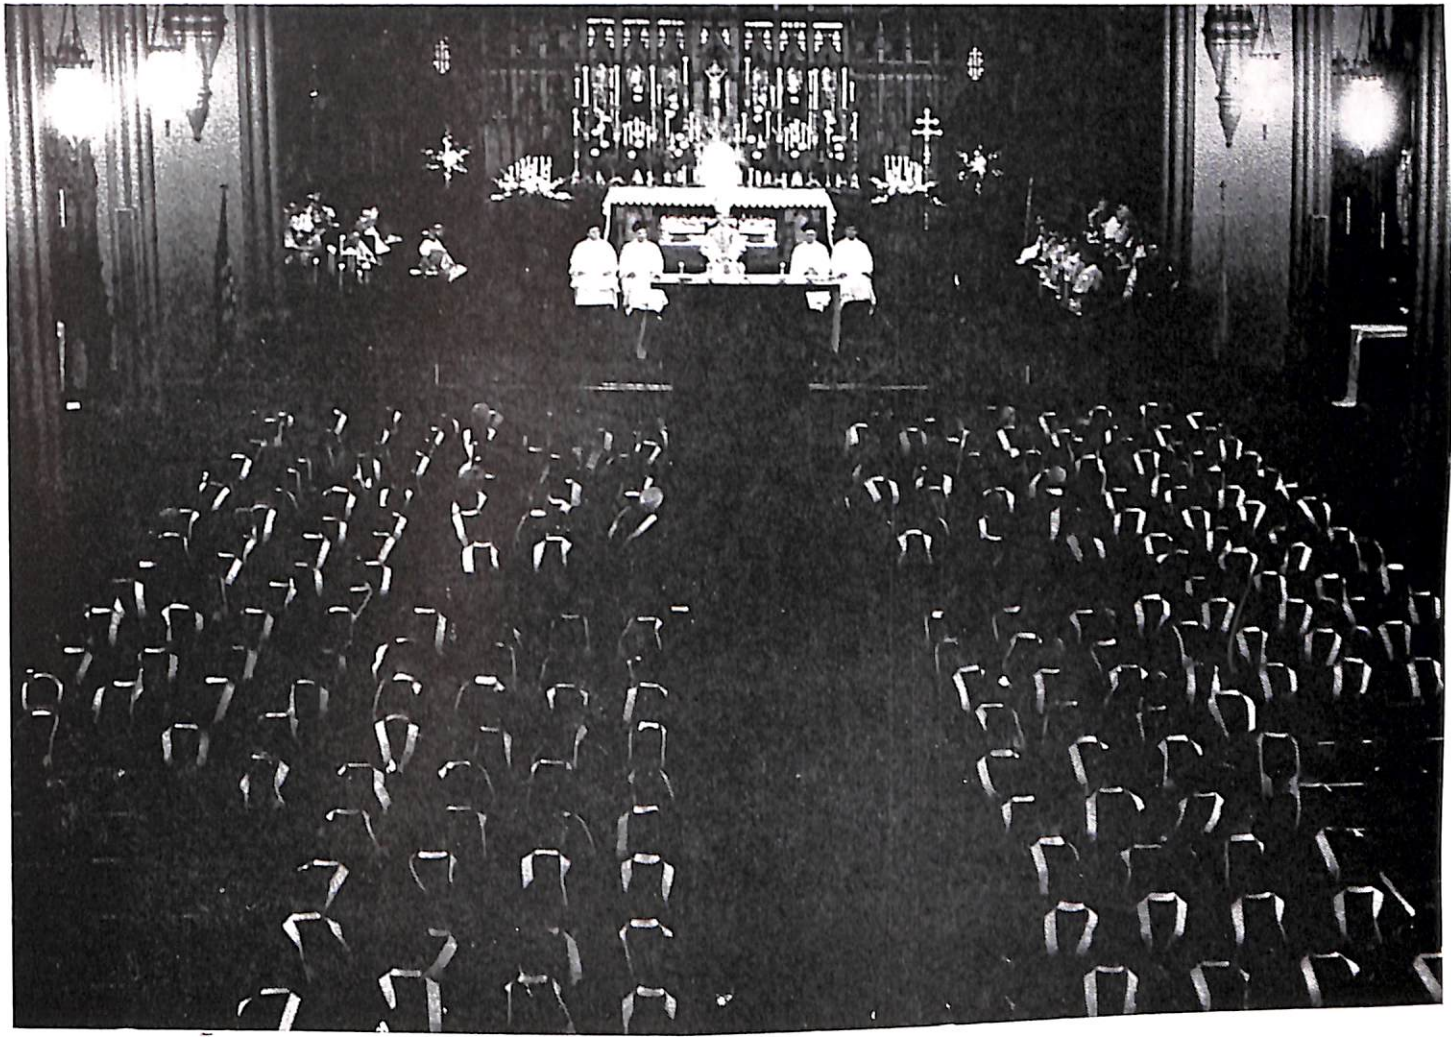

"Southern Fantasy," was carried out by means of appropriate decorations, including white pillars, surrounding and highlighting a sparkling water fountain, banked with multicolored flowers, as Jack Gillespie and his orchestra interspersed popular music with dixieland themes ranging from jazz to traditionals like "Moon Over Miami"—something suited to every musical taste. The queen, elected by those attending, was Miss Linda Donner, escorted by Lorasman Dexter Sidney. The committeemen responsible for this annual affair sponsored by the Student Senate, included sophomores Jim Ponzo and Chris Lyons, and junior Ric Jais, through whose imaginative efforts the evening became for many an unforgettable one.

COMMENCEMENT

The 1966-67 academic calendar drew to a close this year as two hundred fifty-five seniors followed in the footsteps of countless classes before them. The traditional Baccalaureate Mass was held on June 3 at 5:00P.M. in St. Raphael's Cathedral. This pontifical low Mass was celebrated by the Most Rev. James Byrne, Archbishop of Dubuque and the sermon was preached by the Most Rev. Gerald F. O'Keefe, newly-installed Bishop of Davenport, Iowa. Ceremonies continued on Sunday, June 4, as the President-Designate of Loras College, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Justin A. Driscoll, delivered the commencement address to graduates and parents, assembled in the Loras fieldhouse.

Although not chosen on the basis of grades and social life but by the standard of quality of work performed in all areas of Campus life a member of the Who's Who receives a certificate of recognition, and receives recognition in a write-up on Loras College in the annual Who's Who publication.

Along with this distinction comes an important place for reference services for future decisions.

The Society assisted at Registration, Parents Day, and Senior Day. They likewise sponsored the 13th annual "Sneak Preview," which was a tri-collegiate talent production, and conducted "Operation We Care" (a collection of gifts for American Service-men stationed in Viet Nam).

In spring the Fraternity increased its size by pledging thirty-six students to carry on this successful tradition of service.

C. S. M. C.

Here now! What am I bid? What am I bid? Five, ten, twenty, going once, twice, sold to the girl in the green dress are the familiar words heard as the Annual Mission Auction held on March 16th by the C.S.M.C. This year the mission cleared $1100, with the flags selling for $197 and $165. As usual the Irish flag flew over the Rockbowl.

The club's name, Catholic Student's Mission Crusade succinctly describes the organization. Besides the Mission Auction members of the club do Barge work which means the members volunteer their services by cleaning up molasses barges and the money they earn goes to the Missions.

Another project is the yearly summer program at Rocky Boy in Colorado. There the students devote their summer providing assistance to the Indians. Some plans are also being considered for work to be done in "Inner City."

"Ye editor" undergoes preliminary torture before being "martyred" for winning Irish by losing Bohemians.

speakers are invited to address the group and field trips are taken to allow members of the group to see and experience engineering in action in the everyday realm of day to day living. The Engineering Club is very ably moderated by Mr. Corwin Hellmer.

Whether earning money at the Kampus Kar-nival, mixers, or car wash, or even contributing to Cardinal Cushing's Latin American Fund and to the Athletic Fund at St. Mary's Home just represents part of the Club's activities.

While for projects, the Sweetheart Ball whispers success, and the Man of the Year award was presented to Mr. Gerald Potts for the previous school year for his excellent coaching job with the Loras DuHawks basketball team and for his contributions as an instructor in Physical Education.

Also for singular accomplishment and merit in sportsmanship and athletic ability, Joe Hajec was presented the Delta Sigma's Athlete of the Year award.

HISTORY CLUB

The Loras History Club seeks to provide a thorough understanding and a deeper insight into Man. This study of man is achieved by creating and stimulating interest in history, for this is what history is of itself concerned with, not with facts alone.

Starting off with the Kampus Karnival membership campaign, the club then switched to Father Zatko as a guest lecturer along with slides on Poland and other European Countries. Included in the various other activities were movies and discussions.

The Club ended its year with an Annual Banquet, in which the election of 67-68 Officers, and a presentation of a gift to Dr. Balfe, the Moderator.

Phi Alpha Theta

Phi Alpha Theta, the national history honor society, aids in the development of its members by producing the proper appreciation and understanding of history.

To become a member of Phi Alpha Theta, a student must have a grade point of 3.0 not only in the field of history but in every course. Moreover, one must be granted approval in the attainment of membership by the members of the history department.

FORENSICS

The 1966-67 academic year was one of enormous participation for the members of the Forensic squad. Thirty students and four faculty moderators traveled to 15 campuses, challenging speakers and debators of over 100 major universities and colleges throughout the nation.

Even at home the squad was active: from Collegiate Conferences, to Speech Festivals, exchanging debates with Oxford University (London) and Harvard University (Cambridge, Massachusetts), and helping in the sponsoring of the Modern United Nations Assembly held at Loras College.

Peter T. Smyth, a member of the squad, was named "Mr. Iowa Orator of the Year" and earned the distinction of representing the state of Iowa at the national oratory contest in the spring.

KLOR

Whether it be Bach, Folk, Opera, or Hermen Hermits you need, the Loras College Radio Station shifted gears and enlarged its capacity to provide hours of listening pleasure for Clarke, Mercy and Loras students.

Along with the best sound in the area, there are news programs which feature the top local, national, and international events. Also the sports edition has earned a high rating, feeding detail information about intramurals, varsity and world sports to their fans. Another highlight was the outstanding coverage of the DuHawk away basketball games.

Future plans for progress and expansion are new technical advances in the realm of improving transmission quality and the altering of the present control board and the addition of a new tape deck.

L-CLUB

Swoosh! Smash, crunch, crunch and he's pinned are the familiar sounds which delights Loras fans in this year of Athletic prosperity.

Off the floor, courts and track the Lettermen of Loras College has demonstrated their ability in an organization.

The "L" as it is called unites the outstanding athletes of Loras into a close-knit club for the advancement of sports.

LORIAN

The Lorian is the newspaper of Loras College. Its main function is to present to the student body of Loras clear, precise views of projects, sports and social events.

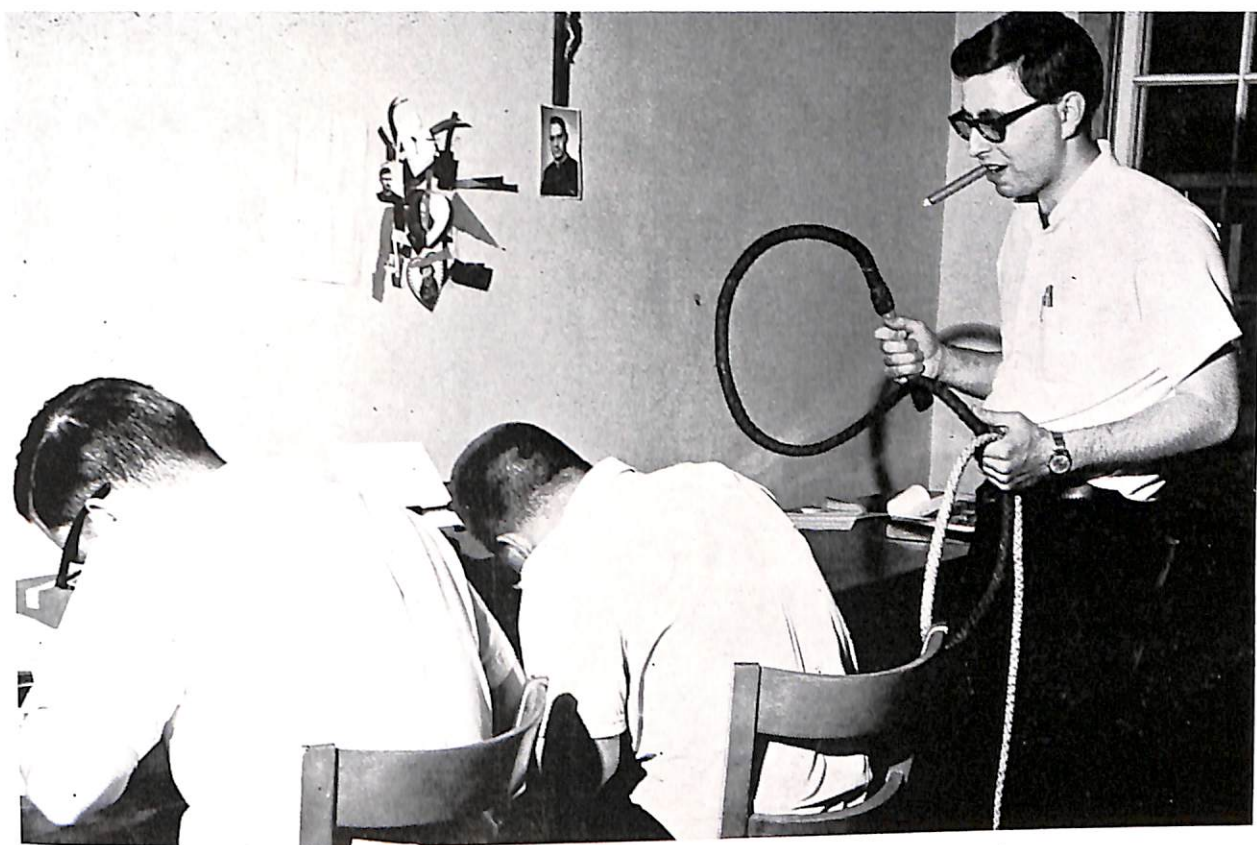

However a change has taken place in the Lorian this year. One which is refreshing and long overdue.

The policy of past Lorians have been to publish material without raising any questions. Now it is quite different, the Lorian under the command and leadership of Mr. James Gallagher, the editor has thrust questions, many times controversial ones out to the students and faculty.

This leads to promoting thought and interests and produces a basis for staying alert.

As you know by now, gentlemen, even whipping didn't work.

PURGOLD

This year was, as usual, one of problems for the Purgold, as you gentlemen are more than well aware by now. The year began well enough, with the staff meeting and agreeing on deadlines that would get the book out well before the end of the year.

Then problems began to creep in. First it was decisions that couldn't be made because "we don't have a president." Then the editor discovered several pitfalls which he hadn't known about in advance.

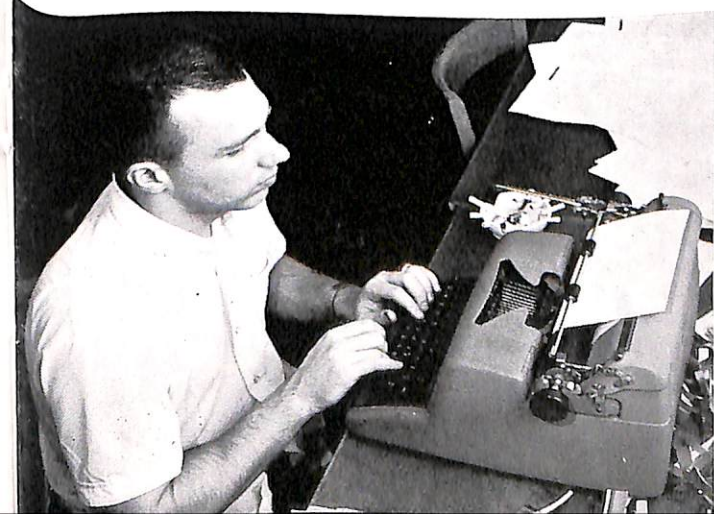

Then in May came the crowning touches, the sports editor quit on May 22 with a note saying he had torn up all the work he had been doing.

This left a 30 page section without anything in it during the week before finals. Then the organizations editor turned in his work the same week, half done and two weeks after the final deadline which would allow the book to come out on time. These are the problems leading to the ridiculous lateness of your yearbooks, gentlemen, for which we can only say, we apologize sincerely.

Pre-Medical Club

The Loras College Pre-Med Club has as its purpose to provide a channel of information and inspiration concerning the medical profession and numerous related fields.

During the year club members heard lectures on Medicine during Pre-Medical Day at the University of Iowa; a talk by Jerry Marti on the "Financial Aid in Medical School," and saw a film entitled "The Changing View of the Change in Life," and a guest lecture by Dr. Donovan Ward, of Dubuque, 1965 president of the A.M.A.

Usher's Club

One of the oldest organizations on the Loras campus, the Ushers Club is responsible for providing ushers for all campus events. They take care of all the detail concerned with getting people into and out of the various events. They take tickets, hand out programs, make sure people are seated properly and direct the movements of the crowds.

The group acts as a sort of "quasi-police force" to keep things orderly at basketball games and the other various events on campus. They also take care of checking I.D.'s at campus events.

SPOKESMAN

Spokesman is the name for the only literary publication on campus and the organization which creates this most beneficial attempt at the Art of Creativity. It is a literary work which includes everything from poetry to short fiction, thus instilling in its readers a deeper and enrich awareness of the world and its many mysteries.

This issue of the magazine had Charles J. Montalbano, a recent graduate of Loras College and who lives in Chicago, display his short fiction story "There Is a Time." Along with this were three magnificent poems entitled "Wind Run," "Sunset," and "To the Church." Also the issue has another graduate student, Lawrence Brenner, with his selection of a short fiction called "The Orchard."

Students writing for the Spokesman produced numerous works: Sophomore Allen Frantzen, had a selection of four poems. Two of which were "At the Loom He Fashioned a Textured Bolt" and "Convention Happenings." John Jambalvo, had a poem and his essay entitled "Why I Want to Be a Personal Pronoun," and Larry White with four poems ranging from "Choked Fellow" to "The Wrecker." Victor Skade wrote a short fiction "Serious Things I Guess and Driving." Junior class contributions were poems by James Wick, "Treehouse World" and Stephen Stedman, "Another Walk Along the Great Northern Tracks."

Upperclassmen contributing as Seniors were Don Ahles with two poems, "Fisherman" and "Through Clover Catching," Paul deVere with a single poem "The Wedding" and Michael Scott with "The Conversion." Senior Jim Gallagher wrote a story of fiction about the "Fall."

LITERARY CLUB

This year a new club entitled "Literary" sprung from an indifference on campus. These are students who really want to write and they show concern and interest in literature of all forms.

Most of the year, the Lit Club spent in organizing an organization, discussing what its aim should or should not be. In fact, confusion reigned for the major portion of the year. But all things fell into place and the problems were finally ironed out.

Thus the Literary Club has one field of concentration: Contemporary Writers. The club decided to concentrate on contemporary writers because there is somewhat of a lack of opportunity to study contemporary writers in the current course structure at Loras. The club felt that by concentrating on contemporary works they could help remedy this deficiency.

LORAS BAND

The Loras College Band presents several concerts each year for the enjoyment of Lorasmen and Dubuquers. The Concert Band was conducted this year by Jackie Watson. As a part of the Band, a Jazz Quintet was formed this year by Charles Chihak, Peter Kelly, David Bower, William Heenan,, and Thomas Reso. The Band displayed their wide repertoire at several concerts this year. At their Christmas Concert they played a variety of music ranging from "The Professional March" by Richard Wagner to "Sabre and Spurs" by John P. Sousa. The Jazz Quintet at the Concert played two original compositions written by Charles Chihak.

At the Mid-Term Concert on March 12, 1967, the band invited Dale Grashorn as a guest soloist. At this Concert the Concert Band played music written by Houston Bright, John Cacavas, Vincent Perchetti, and Richard Rodgers. The Jazz Quintet played songs by Duke Ellington and Steven Foster.

LORAS SINGERS

Originally known as the "Vested Choir," The Loras Singers had their ups and downs during the course of this year.

The choir was scheduled to give a Christmas performance on KWWL-TV in Waterloo. Shortly before the scheduled date, the choir was dissolved and a new group, the Loras Singers, formed from some members of the old choir kept the date.

Later in the year, the Glee Club was dissolved by the departure of Jack Lammers and some of its former members became members of the Loras Singers.

Yet after all this reorganization even the Loras Singers became inactive and it remains to be seen what next year will bring.

S. I. S. E. A.

"Help! Help!" "What do I do when the kids revolt?" "Now, now boys and girls shut—I mean please be quiet!!!" These are just some of the problems which face the members of the Student Iowa State Education Association.

Monthly meetings, with talks on team teaching, track system, discipline and the student teacher provide preparation for their roles as teachers.

Sociology Club

To further each and every member's intellectual achievements is the motto of the Loras College Sociology Club.

At each monthly meeting a guest speaker addresses the group. Two of this year's lectures were given by Mr. Donald Weaver, the director of the United Fund, and Mr. Grotjohn, the head of the Dubuque public welfare.

The Sociology Club is also responsible for running the Big Brother program at St. Mary's Home.

Activities for the students included helping with the Kampus Karnival, banquet, annual mixer and a field trip to Whales, Wisconsin's Home for boys.

STUDENT SENATE

Good leadership, an essential question of our times, has often asked us to use it wisely. This year the Senate received its share either because Loras was lucky, or because the students have finally started to show concern. This was evident in the recent election where for the first time in some while the campus had a choice of candidates to select from and they did! Seventy per cent of the student body voted in this year's Senate elections.

Throughout the year the Student Senate sponsored such functions as the Fall and Spring Prom, Simon and Garfunkel, James Farmer, and Encore "67."

The Senate also worked with the administration on such significant projects as: Teacher and Curriculum evaluation, school calendar, and a Pass-Fail system.

STUDENT TUTOR SOCIETY

The main activity for Lorasmen who are members of the Student Tutor Society is to offer their services without charge to students wishing additional assistance in course work which presents them with problems and difficulties.

To become a member of this organization, a student must be at least a sophomore, have at least a 3.00 average in the subjects which he will be tutoring and be free from both scholastic and disciplinary probation.

One of the items of discussion among the members of the Society this year was the topic of advantages and disadvantages involved in affiliation with a national fraternity.

ST. VINCENT DEPAUL SOCIETY

"Involvement, More Involvement with action," rang the shouts of Lorasmen within the St. Vincent de Paul Society. S.V.D.P., a going organization, has developed beyond it's original aim of promoting spiritual growth through group prayers and participation at Mass with other councils of the Society within the city.

Involvement plays an essential part within the S.V.D.P., for members visit the homes for the elderly once a week and help in the annual Bishops Relief Fund Thanksgiving Clothing collection. This year they assisted parishes and the Y.M.C.A. in packaging and sending clothes to migrant workers in the south. Also they organized and staffed a study center for under-achievers at Nativity School.

During the year a lecture series was held in which guest speakers were invited to speak to the members of the society on topics which were related to the aims and actions of the S.V.D.P.

The Loras College Veterans' Club.

Vet's Club

The organization of Loras Veteran's is made up of ex-service men who have served active duty.

During the year they discussed various methods of backing the American fighting man in Viet Nam and in the remainder of the world.

Last year's "Blood Brothers" was a huge success and this year the Club worked with and provided valuable assistance to the other organizations in project "Operations We Care," the collection and distribution of gifts for American Service men during Christmas holidays.

Y. C. S.

The organization for Young Christian Students is a world wide movement among students to discuss freely and openly, what it means to be a Christian in today's modern world of change. What demands and attitudes must one take in living in harmony with fellow men and what is our quest really turning out to be.

By implementing Scripture, Gospels, Vatican II and the discussion groups into their lives a YCS member becomes more aware of the tremendous responsibility that he has as man to achieve his purpose in life "To love all Men" even as the Master has done.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

The primary aim of the Young Democrats is to stimulate the students to develop an increasing awareness in the workings of the American Government.

The YD's in their organization place emphasis on Education and Communication. At their meetings many discussions follow: from getting the people and the students alert as to what the primary issues are in local and national campaigns, to aiding in the correct voting procedure; for example the method of registering to vote.

Lorasmen in the YD's came to the attention of everyone, due to the constant emphasis on the Policy of the President. They attempted to synthesize his basic policy and issues, explaining them to the men at Loras.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

Strong! Stronger!! Strongest!!! is the war cry of the Young Republicans with a massive display of showmanship featuring 206 participating members.

Throwing themselves into the heart and roots of politics these Lorasmen contributed greatly to the campaign drive of a local resident who was elected State Senator of Dubuque.

Movies, a victory mixer and a booth at the Kampus Carnival provided financing of guest speakers.

During the year, lecturers, panels, and discussions of national and local events were debated, argued and pondered producing headaches for all.

The State Convention held the weekend of March 3-5 raised the success of the Y.R.'s to Mt. Olympus. For Loras, one of the strongest colleges in the state, had much to say in adoption of a platform for the following year.

These stacked Clarkites cheered the Duhawks to the championship of the Midlands Conference.

CHEERLEADERS

BASKETBALL

The Duhawks, after a shaky start, finished with a season record of 18 wins and 8 losses, and champions of the Midlands Intercollegiate Conference to boot! Joe Hajec was the leading Loras scorer with a 17 point per game average with Tommy Jackson and Laddie Sula, the top rebounders. Sula and Hajec achieved further distinction as they both became members of the 1000 point club during this season.

The season opened against the Platteville Pioneers, an 83-66 victory for Loras. Hajec began the march and Loras headed into a 7-2 lead on a basket by Terry Conlon. Platteville never caught up. A similar fate befell Lakeland College as the Muskies lost their first game of the season to the Duhawks, 89-75. Rebounding provided the key to Duhawk success. Loras was paced by a trio of 20 point toppers with Hajec at 22, Conlon at 21, and Sula at 20.

101-95 read the final score as Loras whipped Westmar in overtime with two quick baskets. Other wins included a 109-84 victory over St. Procopius; 84-70 over St. Mary's of Winona; 75-74 over Illinois Tech (too close for comfort); and perhaps, the most encouraging of all, 99-79 over the Ambrose Bees.

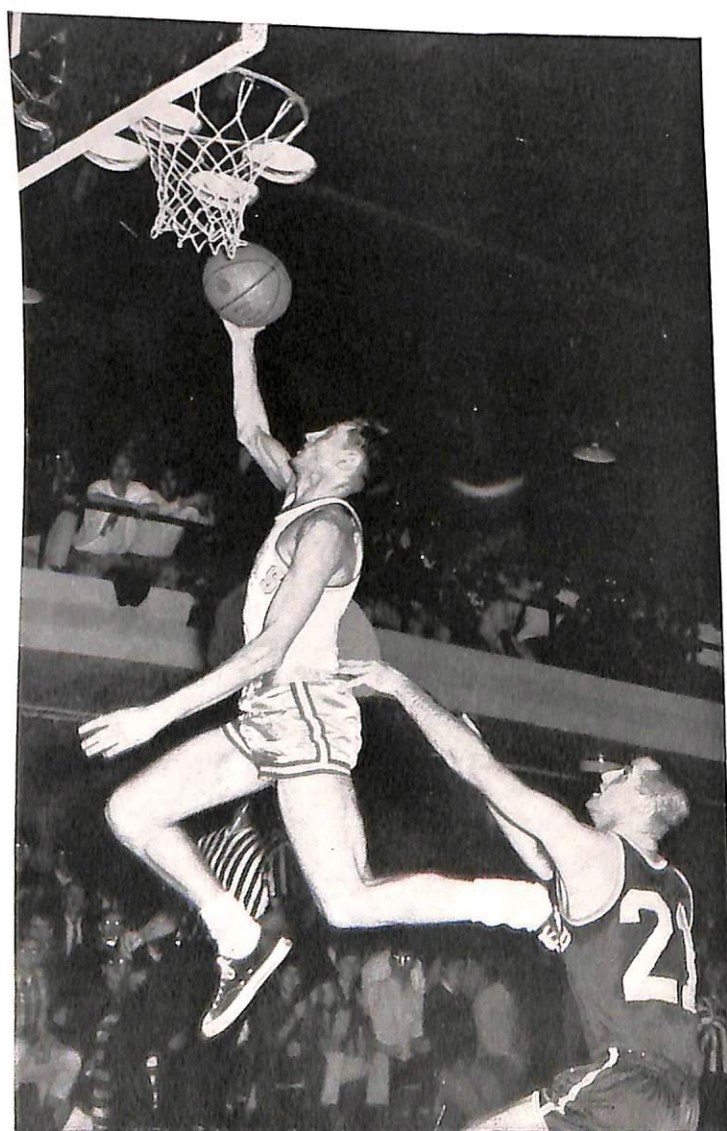

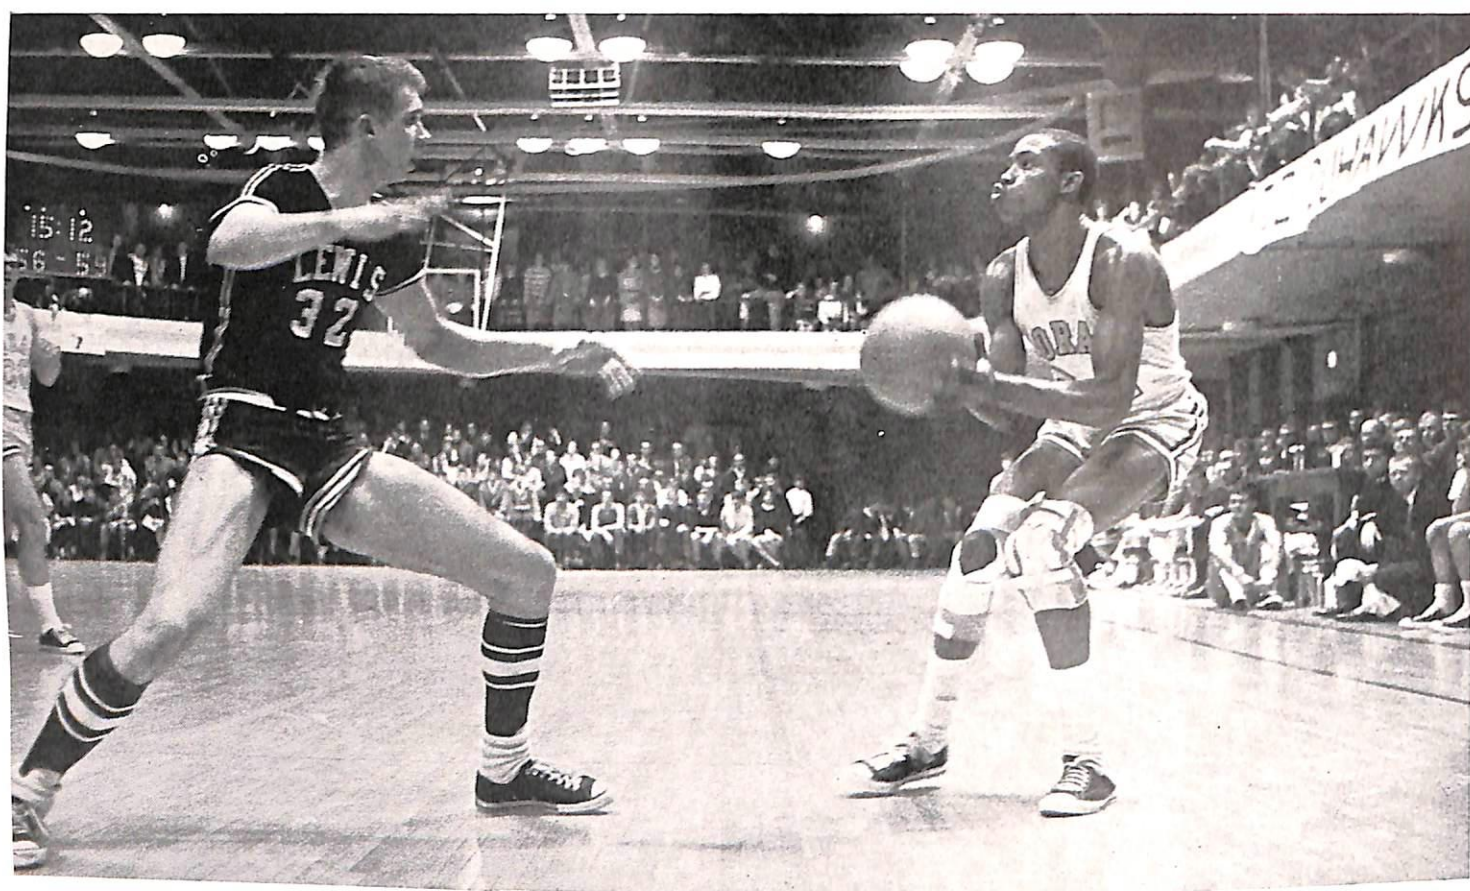

The culmination of the season, however, the Midlands Conference win, was gained by defeating Quincy 75-65. Loras never trailed, jumping to a 4-0 lead with baskets by Sula and Hajec and continuing to the end with Hajec, Gadiant, and Jackson combining for 9 points in just more than one minute, to put the game in the winner's column for Loras.

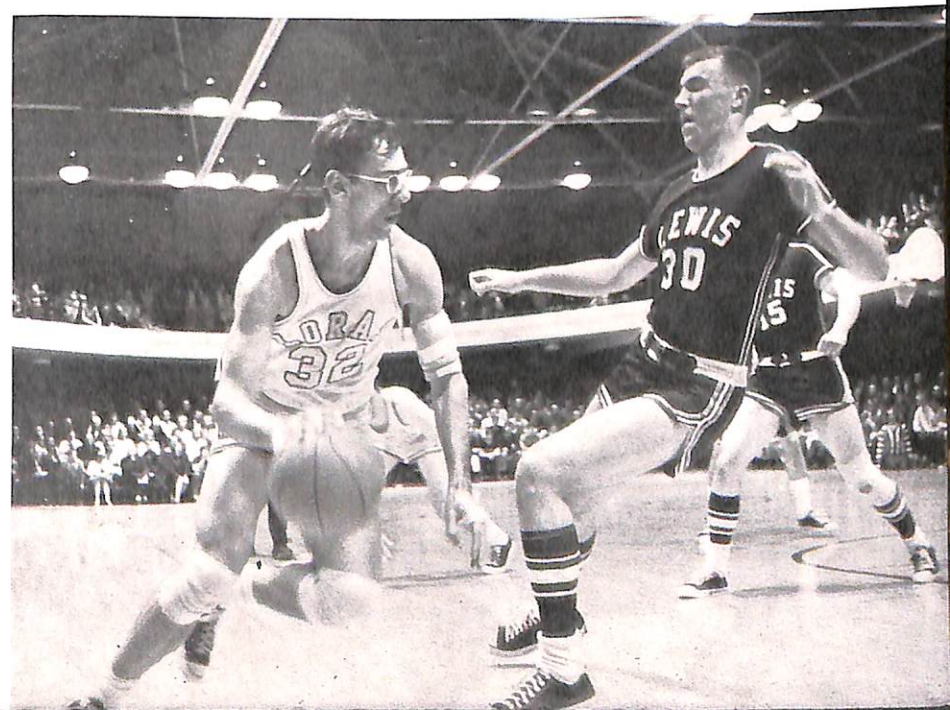

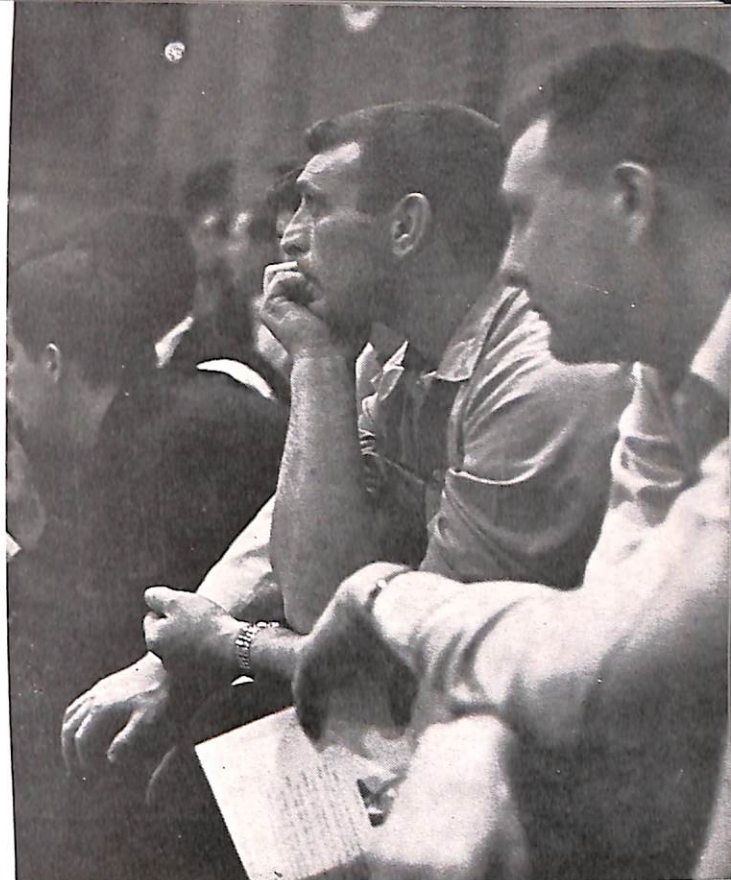

Team spirit was great this season and this, plus the dedication of Coaches Potts and Delgado carried the Duhawks ahead—all the way.

The 1967 Loras Baseball Squad.

BASEBALL

If history repeats itself, sports enthusiasts would have to agree that Duhawk baseball resembles basketball in that both started off poorly but that both finished equally well — Midlands Conference Champions.

The Duhawks, under the guidance of veteran coach Jim Smarjesse, opened the season by dropping a doubleheader to Wartburg and a similar fate befell Loras at the hands of Augustana but the tables quickly turned as Jim Michal gave Loras its first victory with a no-hitter that beat Dubuque 4-0. The wins continued as Loras swept a doubleheader from Moorehead State 7-5 and 8-2. In later competition, Pat Driscoll's defensive playing helped gain a victory over the University of Dubuque 5-2. Three Loras runs were accounted for with a single by Driscoll and doubles by Greg Purnell and Greg Gumbel.

The Duhawks beat St. Procopius 3-2, to post another Loras confidence booster. Ron LeGrand's "hot bat" helped sweep a doubleheader from La Crosse 10-8—8-4, in later competition. The winning streak was broken by a split with Iowa Wesleyan, but the Duhawks bounced back to win the Conference Championship by edging over Lewis College 9-8.

BOWLING

Inter-Collegiate Bowling saw its second year at Loras during the 1966-67 season, as many veterans returned under the leadership of Rev. Edmund Kurth. Despite losses suffered during the first semester, to Illinois Institute of Technology, St. Joseph's, and Loyola, team spirit was good. De Paul administered a 9-2 thrashing but Walt Truby rolled a 213 game and a 975 series against De Paul, to lead the keglers in both departments for the season.

Second semester competition included De Paul, St. Joseph, Loyola, Notre Dame, and the 19th annual M. I. B. C. Tournament at Loyola. After two somewhat trying years, we wish the Duhawks a tremendous third season, confident that team spirit and ability will carry them through to victory.

TENNIS

Perhaps the most important event in the 1967 tennis calendar was the Midlands tennis tournament, in which Loras finished a cool second. John DeLorbe opened up the first round of the tournament with a victory as did Lorasman Tom Derouin. Derouin and DeLorbe fared less favorably in the second round, both losing their matches. Victory again was theirs in the third round. The Loras doubles team of Mike Geppner and Roger Herting defeated the St. Norbert's team twice but lost to St. Ambrose twice. By taking both the singles and doubles championship, St. Ambrose became the 1967 Midlands Champions. Loras finished second with 17 points, lagging the champs by 5. This blow was lessened by a victory over SCI in which the Duhawk racqueteers, under the leadership of Msgr. Timothy Gannon, copped all six single matches as well as three doubles.

TRACK

The Loras cindermen broke into the outdoor season at the Wabash Relays in which Loras captured a first in the sprint medley relay, second in the two mile relay, and third in the shot put and shuttle hurdles. Monmouth Relays saw a strong Loras team take three firsts and at the SCI Relays the 880 and 440 relay teams repeated their winning performances against stiff competition. The highlight of the first part of the season came at the Drake Relays when the 880 relay team raced to an unprecedented first place in the Iowa College Division, breaking both school and meet record.

The second half of the season saw Loras continue its success by winning the 440 and 880 relays at the Luther Relays and also capturing the championship in the first annual Midlands Conference Meet. The second annual Loras Relays set the scene for a fitting climax to the 1967 Loras track season. In that meet, Loras romped to 1 out of 17 possible first places. The meet also witnessed the presentation of the first annual Mark Weber Memorial Award for the senior trackman-scholar, to Larry Kruse.

In dual meet competition, Loras scored easy victories over Winona and Marquette, 104-33; 81-60, while losing to St. Ambrose 73-72. The Duhawks also triumphed over the University of Dubuque, and Platteville, in a triangular meet. Joe Hajec went on after the Loras Relays to take a first in the NAIA Regionals, a fifth in the Central Collegiate Meet and a second in the NCAA National Collegiate Championship in Ogden, Utah.

Eight seniors will be leaving the ranks: Joe Hajec, recipient of the Delta Sigma Trophy for the Most Outstanding Athlete of the Year; Rick Eggert, holder of the 880 record; Charley Riney, ace high jumper; and Dan Toomey, holder of the pole vault record.

Compensating for the loss of senior talent are such individuals as Jack Lothamer, relay runner; Jack Welu, and shot putter, Bob Dougherty. A solid sophomore and freshman lineup promise good seasons for several springs to come.

Cross Country

The 1966 harriers had one of their best seasons in recent years. Highlights include a first place in both the Les Duke Invitational at Grinnell and the Rockford College Invitational, during which freshman Jim McEneaney took a first, followed by Bob Munoz, Meehen, Kruse, Spirek, and Piane finished in sixth, ninth, tenth and eleventh places, giving Loras a score 40 points better than runner-up U. of Dubuque. Dual meet competition revealed a 4-5 season, with wins over Augustana, Platteville, Winona, and Upper Iowa.

WRESTLING

A final win gave the Duhawk grapplers a respectable 8-8 season. Five consecutive wins highlighted the season, with the first of these being a 20-11 victory over Simpson, followed by a trouncing of Central—27-8. The Duhawks continued rolling by defeating St. Norbert's 24-11. Iowa Wesleyan fell next 26-7 and the Lorasmen edged by the the Warriors from Wartburg 20-18. The grapplers were stunned by Upper Iowa by 11-20 but bounced back to defeat Lewis in a 32-3 finale. A glance at final statistics reveals some notable accomplishments on the part of men determined to win. Season records include Joe Wiewel, 10-1-1; Bill Huerter, 13-3-2; Paul Meintzer, 11-6-1; Bob Roethler, 9-6-1; Steve Kelly, 6-5; and Jim Figgins, 8-8-2. Two school records were set during the season: fastest pin, Joe Wiewel—31 seconds, and the most team points, 32.

IM FOOTBALL

As the 1966 IM Touch Football League began it appeared to be headed by the Mark VI. The Apostles were back again this year as a dark horse choice. The Gutter Rats were back under a new name, the Fighting Irish. The Chocolate Soldiers were led by hard rushing Tony Frommelt and came up with a few surprises.

The Fighting Irish took the top spot in the IM upperclass football league followed by the Chocolate Soldiers in second and the Mark VI in third.

Tournament action opened on November 1, with the five top teams from the upperclass league and the three best teams from the freshman league competing.

As the tournament progressed it could easily be seen that the inexperienced teams from the frosh league could not stand up to the more experienced upperclass teams.

The tournament turned into a contest between the Mark VI and the Chocolate Soldiers. In the first meeting between these two teams the Mark VI came out on top 22-12. After fighting to stay in the tournament, the Soldiers again met the Mark VI in a game which if won by the VI meant the championship, and if won by the Soldiers meant another game between the two to determine who would be champ. The Soldiers won the second tournament meeting. On the following day the two teams met in the championship game with the VI coming out on top 25-14.

IM BASKETBALL

As the 1966-67 IM basketball season began the Road Runners were the team to beat and as the season progressed the Road Runners fulfilled all that was expected of them. The Road Runners, the runners up in the 1966 championship game were the top team in the upperclass night league.

The upperclass noon league was led by the Axemen followed by the Spartans and the Profounds.

The freshman league saw two outstanding teams, the Bombers and the Little Lords.

The tournament list included seven teams from the upperclass night league, four teams from the upperclass noon league, and five teams from the freshman leagues.

The noon league dominated the tournament play, both teams in the championship game being from the noon league. The Profounds, third place finishers in the noon league, defeated the Spartans by a score of 75-59 and won the tournament with a 5-0 record.

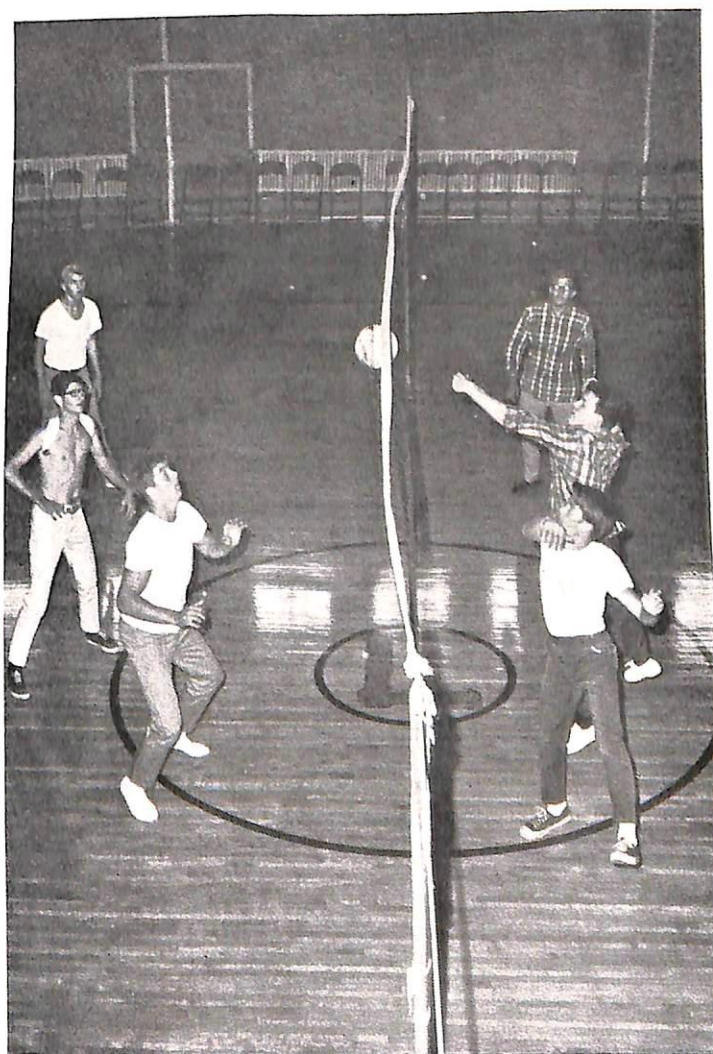

IM VOLLEYBALL CHAMPS, THE JOCKADONAS

IM VOLLEYBALL

In the intramural volleyball league the teams to beat were the Hulks, the Chronic Bleeders and the ever-present Jockadonas. These three teams in the first semester were tied for the lead and just as in football the championship hung on the final games of the season. The Jockadonas finally came out on top with the first semester championship.

Finishing the volleyball season with three quick victories over the second-place Buckets, the Jockadonas succeeded in capturing the second semester volleyball championship and an unprecedented sixth straight championship. Their only loss was an opening game setback by the Abyoulabears.

INTRAMURAL TRACK MEET

Ambulants ahead!!! The Ambulants rolled up 97½ points to win the Loras Intramural Track and Field Meet by twenty points over the second place Seamen. The Striders finished third with 61 points. The Champions won four events—the shot put, the 50 yard wheelbarrow, the discus throw, and the 50 yard monkey walk, placed second in five others, and captured third in thirteen more. To this they totaled nine fourth and fifth places.

Four records were set: Dan Upton of the Independents won the high jump with a height of 6 feet; Paul Meintzer of the Seamen took the 100-yd. sack race with a time of 27.1 seconds; then Meintzer combined with teammate Tom Ceiplak to set a record of 46.8 seconds in the 200-yd. Piggy-back; and finally Chuck VonFeldt, Mike Dvorak, and Bob Franz of the Striders teamed to take the 100-yd. Russian leap frog in 42.2 seconds.

Besides the usual track and field events such as the 100-yd. dash, the mile run, the shot put, and the discus throw, there were several unusual events. Typical of these were the 30-yd. cartwheel, the over and under race, the 50-yd. monkey walk, the 100-yd. 3-legged race.

Approximately 150 students from ten teams participated in the preliminaries on Friday and the finals Saturday.

SOCCKER

1967 may have been the last year for soccer at Loras. Last year the Soccer Club lost its official status as varsity sport at Loras and it functioned only as a campus club this year. The club played teams from other schools such as Platteville, Iowa State and others. The club was able to use equipment previously purchased by the college and obtained some help through the intervention of interested faculty members. Continuation of soccer at Loras depends on the interest of students in participating and on whether or not the group can be viable as an official campus club.

JUDO

The Loras Judo Club, started only a few years ago, has grown into an established group offering instruction and practice in the art of Judo.

Although inexperienced in competition, the Club participated in Judo contests at Ames, Mason City, and Cedar Rapids. At Waterloo the club earned two third place trophies and at Fort Dodge the Club acquired another third place trophy.

During the Loras College tri-city Judo meet on April 2 Loras again took a second and a third among state-wide participants.

In Judo there are various degrees, the highest and called the Black Belt meaning expert in the art. Following a Black Belt the advance members are Brown belts while the intermediates are green. In achievement of these belts, one must defeat an opponent of a higher degree.

The season ended with a banquet and the election of officers.

Editor's Note

It is customary for the editor to achieve his final glory with a large portrait of himself on this page. To speak candidly, gentlemen, there is very little glory connected with this edition of the Purgold. As editor I must take responsibility for the flaws and failures of the book even though some of them are due to human failures which could not be foreseen. Therefore, gentlemen, I offer you my personal apologies for the lateness of the book and ask you to forgive the bitterness in the Purgold article as coming from the frustration of the moment.

This year's Purgold has a new type-face for the body type, a cleaner more readable type which makes for a neater appearance on the pages. As you have probably noticed by now, this year, for the first time we have used a full color picture on the title page. Unfortunately, the budget limited use of full process color to one page, but it is hoped that this situation can be remedied in the future. We have also used more colors on the cover in an attempt to modernize the image of the book.

Seniors will notice that no list of activities is included after their names. This was done on the basis of an informal poll conducted by me, the results of which indicated that many students felt this list to be undesirable. Part of the reason was the large amount of padding done in the past in the competition for the longest list.

As this year's Purgold attempted to cover the Loras year in more detail than have the previous two or three books, space allotments for many items had to be cut because of lack of space. In spite of attempts to include everything some organizations, activities etc., have not been included because of lack of information, spoiled pictures or some other flaw. To those affected we apologize.

Now for the credits and acknowledgments. Special appreciation goes to Roy Schwaegler of Tel-Graphics for his role in the production of the Purgold. Roy handles the printing end of the Purgold every year and I sometimes wonder how he stands it. Thanks to George Freund for his assistance in many areas of the 1967 Purgold and to Mike O'Dowd for okaying some extra budget for color. I would like to commend Paul Zak for his fine work as activities editor and for pitching in this summer to help finish the book. A special vote of thanks goes to Keith Birch for his invaluable assistance and generous work this summer. After the staff had gone Keith offered his assistance and was instrumental in the finishing of the 1967 Purgold. I also would like to recognize the Loras photographers, Guy Wagner, Joe Mausser, and Dave Farnan for their contributions to the 1967 Purgold.

Formal acknowledgment is made to Tel-Graphics for printing, Smith Cover Co., for the covers and to Boehm Bindery for binding.

The staff and I wish success to all you Lorasmen, especially to the Seniors who have graduated and we hope that the 1967 Purgold will recall to you in years to come, happy memories of your years at Loras.
